Good morning, everyone. I'm Jack from Sunny School. Do you want to be a good listener? If you want to be a good listener, you have to empty your own ideas and thoughts before listening. A good listener always listens carefully to the speaker without thinking of his own ideas from time to time. The following points are very important for active listening. First, look at the person who is talking in the face. Don't look away or at the floor. Next, try to make your body forward, as this is a sign of interest. Then, sit or stand with your arms down or with your hands resting on your knees, not crossed. And two more, make yourself feel comfortable and don't play with your hands. Don't stop the speaker by asking too many questions. If you want to get more information about a good listener, you can call me at 1035829. Thank you for listening!
